There is a new student in my class. She is a pretty girl. She comes from India. We speak different languages. She speaks Indian language to me and I speak Cantonese to her.

When we were having lunch, I looked at her lunchbox. It was naan bread with some curry. I wanted to try it so I asked her, "May I try some naan bread?" She gave me some naan bread. I said thank you to her. I ate a bit of it. I thought it was so spicy. I wanted to take my water bottle, but I was careless. I knocked over my water bottle and Hana's too. I felt sad and I said sorry to her. Surprisingly, she forgave me. We have become good friends since then.
